

Taking off my Sweaters

Written by Gayle Nobel
Thursday, 30 April 2015 20:14 -

Hello!

I'm now torn between two blogs and find that what I'm posting on my new coaching blog can be powerful and inspirational for my autism blog readers. Go figure! Life is just like that.

Since my new blog has a more user friendly back end, I tend to go there first. That said, inviting you to head on over to a very heartfelt post I made today, "Taking off my Sweaters" and while you're there, check out the previous post "Ya Think?"

As for the saga of Kyle, there has been so much change in his life recently. I'm excited to say he is thriving in his life right now- not just surviving. I will post an update about all of that soon as the dust begins to settle.

GayleNobel.com is where its at today for "Taking off my Sweaters."

